COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

In accordance with the voting at the Annual Town Meeting the total appropriations amount to $184,480.00 plus $6,000.00 estimated County Tax. From this is subtracted $16,000.00 which was appropriated from surplus, leaving $178,480.00 to be raised by taxation, which is $11,499.00 more than was appropriated for 1958.

Although it is still too early to determine as to what the tax rate will be, as this will depend on the amount of taxable property. The assessors anticipate an increase in taxable property as the gains from new construction will more than offset the losses by fire, veterans' exemptions, etc. However the gain in property valuations will probably not offset the increase in appropriations, which will result in an increase in the tax rate.

1959 dog licenses can now be purchased from the Town Clerk as she has received new tags and forms from the state. Dog licenses are due April 1st on dogs that are six months old or more on this date. The license fees are the same as last year.

If anyone desires to send a copy of the town report to a relative or friend that was a former resident of Bethel that would be interested in receiving a copy, may call at the Town Office for the report.

In the very near future notices will be mailed to all persons that are delinquent in the payment of their 1958 taxes. The notice will contain information as to when tax items will be filed on real estate taxes, and suit or summons will be issued against poll and personal property tax payers.

Sincerely,
Harold L. Bean

SKIWAY AWARDS CONTRACT FOR FINAL SURVEYS - ENGINEERING

An important contract was signed this week between the Sunday River Skiway Corporation, developer of Maine's newest major winter sports area, and Sno-Engineering Corporation of Nashua, N. H., according to an announcement made by Addison C. Saunders, President of the Maine organization.

Under the contract, the New Hampshire concern will assume full responsibility for surveys and engineering remaining to be completed on the outskirts of Bethel. They will prepare detailed specifications for the lift, trails, buildings, roads, and parking areas, and they will obtain firm bids from manufacturers and contractors on all phases of construction that remain to be done as of this date. It is also expected that Sno-Engineering will supervise the actual installation of the ski lift during the summer months.

In commenting on this action Mr. Saunders pointed out that the contract with the "New Hampshire firm removes all of the 'guess work' from the planning stage for the Sunday River Skiway, and turns it over to a group of well-qualified experts who have had a considerable amount of practical experience in the construction and operation of ski areas. Among them are Sel Hanna of Franconia, N. H. internationally recognized authority on all phases of ski developments, George Macomber, developer of the Wildcat Mountain Area at Pinkham Notch, and David Heald, who managed the big development at Lake Sunapee State Park in New Hampshire for several years.

It is expected that the engineering phase of the project will be completed by April 15, and that the work of clearing trails, roads and parking areas will be resumed shortly thereafter.

DON ANGIEVINE NAMED TO EASTERN NORDIC TEAM

Don Angevine of Bethel, a junior at Gould Academy, was named this week to the Eastern Nordic Team which will compete in the National Junior Championships at Yakima, Washington, March 19-21.

A cross-country specialist, Don has placed consistently high in all meets this year third in the State Championships fifth in the New England Championships and ninth in the Eastern Junior Championships.

In this last race Don's high finishing spot was all the more remarkable because he broke a ski while running the course and was forced to cover one-fourth of a mile on one ski before he could obtain another one.

In traveling to this meet, Don follows the path of a number of other Gould sides who have done well in the Nationals in recent years. In this tradition it is expected that he will pose a real threat to the nation's top junior cross-country skiers.

Discussions Feature Bethel Meeting --- School and Sewer Accounts Up

About 200 Bethel voters were interested in the balloting for town officers Monday, although there was but one contest on the printed ballot. A change in the method of choosing selectmen and assessors was a new feature of the event. Five were elected this year but for three, two and one year terms instead of all for one year as before.

Officers elected were:

Moderator—Henry H. Hastings

Selectmen and Assessors — 3 years, Harold G. Bennett, John H.

Carter; 2 years, Burton L. Newton,

1 year, Maurice L. Kendall,

Wallace E. Saunders

School Committee — 3 years,

Stanley E. Davis; 2 years, Phillipa

Glines

Town Clerk—Violet M. Bennett

Pay of town officers was fixed at the same rate as for several years past: selectmen, nothing; assessors and clerk, $100; health officer, $35.

An unusual feature of the hour and a half meeting was the decisions on appropriations, some of which were quite lengthy, but eventually following exactly the conclusions reached by the budget committee. Appropriations total comes $11,000 more than a year ago

The first discussion was on the appropriation for a night watchman. A motion to raise $3200 was defeated after being voted on a standing vote 43-43. A vote with printed ballots and the check list was 58 yes and 80 no. Then there was little opposition to the appropriation of $3550. Duties and routes covered by the night watchman were explained by Town

Most swine producers have probably noticed that baby pig anemia is becoming more of a problem these days.

This is probably due to two factors. First, with today's continuous farrowing programs, more pigs are born during colder weather, are more closely confined, do not get out on pastures where they can get needed iron and copper from the soil. Second, our soils are becoming more lacking in these elements. That also means further increase in anemia.

Baby pigs should be watched for signs of anemia.

Today, as a result, this is one of the most widespread killers of baby pigs. Anemia is costing farmers such heavy losses that it has been selected as one of the prime targets for National Livestock Loss Prevention Year in 1959.

What can the swine producer do about the problem? First, he needs to recognize its symptoms early. If anemia progresses too far, the veterinarian may be unable to save the affected pigs. And, often those which do recover are unthrifty.

Treatment needs to be started promptly. Symptoms include listlessness, weakness, pale membranes in the mouth, lips, snout and around the eyes and loss of appetite.

The method of preventing anemia is to put iron in the pigs' diets. However, this is unthrifty, and many soils are becoming deficient.

In some cases, iron and copper tablets are given by mouth.

The newest method is to have a veterinarian inject a special suspension iron solution directly into the pig's muscle tissue. Many authorities now favor this because corrective dosages are controlled, and results are dependable.

Anemia as a potential baby pig problem is going to be with us now on. The wise farmer will plan to cope with it as a regular part of his operations.

EXTENSION ASSOCIATION

MEMBERSHIP INCREASES

660 IN ONE MONTH

Another 660 men and women in Maine became members of their County Extension Associations last month to raise the state total to 16,210.

Richard C. Dolloff, county agent leader for the Extension Service, University of Maine, who is secretary of the Maine Extension Association, said today that five counties have more members than a year ago. They're Franklin, Kennebec, Androscoggin - Sagadahoc, Washington, and Knox-Lincoln.

Secretary Dolloff pointed out that the Extension Associations making the largest membership increases during the past month were Washington, Androscoggin-Sagadahoc, Penobscot, Hancock, Southern Aroostook, and Somerset Counties. All counties in Maine reported increases.

When the three sections of Aroostook are added together, Aroostook leads Maine in Extension Association membership with 17,744. Other counties with more than 1,000 Extension members include Kennebec, 1,414;

Cumberland, 1,502; Androscoggin-Sagadahoc (Twins), 1,283; Hancock, 1,269; Penobscot, 1,205; York, 1,183; Waldo, 1,170; Oxford, 1,112; Somerset, 1,066; and Knox-Lincoln, 1,061.

The Extension Association membership total in Maine includes 5,084 men and 10,226 women. These members are supporting Extension anniversary after which the party attended the dance at Top Hat Pavilion. Annie Garey, Mrs. Tyler's mother took care of the children for the evening.

THE WELCOME HOME

Dr. E. Stanley Jones tells of a young man riding on a train, talking with an older man beside him. As he neared his station, he became very nervous, and told his story. "I stole some money, and ran away from home. Last week I couldn't stand it any longer, and sent a telegram home, saying that I wanted to come back."

"This train goes right by my father's pasture before it gets to the station. I asked him to hang a white cloth on a branch of the big apple tree so I could see it, if he'd let me come home. If it isn't there, I will stay on the train."

"But now the time has come. I can't bear to look. You look, and tell me if it's there."

A few moments later, they reached the pasture, and the older man clutched the boy by the shoulder, and said, "Turn around and look! There's a piece of cloth on every branch of that tree."

Modern man, in spite of all his wealth and world mastery, finds himself in the same condition as that boy. He has left his father's home, like the Prodigal of the parable, and has tried to live in the far country, amid the swine pens.

But there is no peace in his heart, only a great vacuity, a homesickness. We have unlocked almost every secret in the world today, except the secret of our own life and destiny. In our need, we have turned to earthly Messiahs with feet of clay, and sought for spiritual guidance from those who are as confused as we are.

When we turn from these crass savagisms to the timeless teachings of the Word of God, we find there a great promise. "Though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be white as snow." Whenever men and women, in simple faith, accept that promise, they make a great discovery. It is that "there is a piece of cloth on every branch of the tree."

For our God is a loving God, and forgiving one.

GOV. CLAUSON BUYS SEALS FROM EASTER SEAL BOY

Ten year old Jimmy Langley of Portland, Maine's 1959 Easter Seal Boy, had the thrill of his lifetime this week when he met Governor Clauson at the State Capital and sold him the first sheet of this year's Easter Seals, marking the opening day of the annual month-long Easter Seal campaign.

Stricken with Leg-Perthes disease in 1955, Jimmy was admitted to the Pine Tree Society's Hyde Memorial Rehabilitation Hospital in January, 1958, where he was given skilled care and therapy treatment until mid-November, 1958.

Looking at Jimmy today, zipping along on his crutches as fast as any other youngster, although his right heel is attached by a cord to his Sam Brown belt, you would never dream that for months at the Hyde Memorial Hospital he ate his meals and continued his school work confined to a stretcher. Now Jimmy challenges the other children to a race down the street, swims regularly at the Portland Boys' Club pool, and merrily joins in the other activities that make up a young boy's world.

In addition to receiving the necessary medical care, therapy, treatments and school work at the hospital and school work at the Hyde Hospital, Jimmy was taught how a handicapped youngster can care for himself and learn to lead an independent useful life. Brighter tomorrows are assured for Maine's crippled children and adults by Maine's Easter Seal Agency, the Pine Tree Society, and contributions to Easter Seals Jimmy, and the many other Maine crippled children and adults who have been provided medically supervised rehabilitation by the Pine Tree So-city are tangible evidence of this. "Here's a sample of what Easter Seal dollars can do for us," says Jimmy as he races on crutches with lightning-like speed down the street.

"Industries, institutions and governments, as well as men and animals, are subject to the law of the survival of the fittest. They survive or perish according to their adaptability or inadaptability to environment. If we want them to endure, we must be willing to accept changes which will insure their preservation. The best security is through intelligent change." Industrial Press Service.

3 Bedrooms, Rear Terrace

A combination of modern comfort and good room arrangement has made this house a favorite with Small Homes Guide readers. The three bedrooms are arranged to form an L at the rear, making a central entrance direct for the terrace. The popular trend toward eating areas is reflected in the feature, if in itself for both dinner and breakfast. The kitchen is a large room, open into the dining room, separated from the living room by a glass curtain-wall, then opening around the corner for a service area of the fireplace at the other end of the room. Backsteps divide the living and dining room.

The housewife will be especially pleased with the modified U-shaped kitchen. The U-shaped shelves made there for storage and the breakfast nook that saves the dining room for more formal occasions. Large cabinets and cupboard form a convenient working and serving partition between the road and kitchen chores. Full basement offers limitless possibilities for storage and recreation.

Area of this house by Architect Walter T. Ankles is 1550 sq. ft. Information on blueprints and their cost can be obtained by writing to Small Homes Guide, 62 W. Washington, Chicago 2, Illinois.

Stoddard warned that veterans who gain the reputation of being "chronic delinquents" will find their lenders take this into account if the veterans should ever need an extension of repayment time on their GI loans.

In addition to their loss of credit standing, veterans who become delinquent in their payments may be ultimately faced with the loss of the property acquired with their GI loans, Stoddard said.

V. A. NEWS LETTER

Despite what some veterans may believe, there is no grace period for the late payment of installments on GI loans, M. L. Stoddard, manager of the Veterans Adminstration Center, Togus, said today.

Thus, he added, veterans should make their GI loan payments on or before the date they are due.

Failure to do so may prove costly, he pointed out, since GI lenders may make an extra service charge when payments are received late.

Lenders are permitted to make a charge of an extra 4% of any installment paid more than fifteen days after the due date.

Stoddard warned that veterans who gain the reputation of being "chronic delinquents" will find their lenders take this into account if the veterans should ever need an extension of repayment time on their GI loans.

In addition to their loss of credit standing, veterans who become delinquent in their payments may be ultimately faced with the loss of the property acquired with their GI loans, Stoddard said.

THE OUTLOOK FOR THE AUTO INDUSTRY

At the present time the auto industry is showing considerable improvement over a year ago. Yet sales to date of the 1959 models have been somewhat below expectations. This does not mean that one should be pessimistic in the industry. On the contrary industry estimates of domestic production of 5,500,000 passenger cars for 1959 seem extremely optimistic, up approximately 20% from 1958. It is our feeling based on early results that this estimate is rather high and that a figure somewhere between 4.8 million and 5.2 million is somewhat more realistic. However, there are several factors which make forecasting particularly difficult this year.

In the first place, it is almost impossible to determine whether there will be a steel strike, how long it will last and whether it will have any effect on either auto production or on the economy as a whole. Another factor that will become important later in the year is the introduction of the small car by the major auto companies. This in all likelihood should stimulate sales considerably, although as the public becomes more aware of the forthcoming introduction of these new models it may be more reluctant to buy the 1959 cars. Thus we see a sales pattern where the trend will be declining in the coming months and then turn up sharply in the fall.

No discussion of the auto industry today would be complete without mentioning the small economy car. Already this has proved to be popular with the American public as witnessed by the rising sales of foreign cars of this type. This company has had many of these in the past. Perhaps a happy compromise between these two stocks is Ford. FNS
